To say the law cannot be enforced is simply to bre the case, and he who so states is either a liar, a scoundrel or a coward. The law of the state commands capital publishment for convicted murders at the will of the governor, but in late years no governor bas so willed and the result is the state prison is filled up with life prisoners. The law of this state commands the enforcement of the probabilitory law, and the governor is the will of the constitution, but because governors have falled to will the cities are filling up with salcoha and lawless.
